

About our Digest

Begun as strictly an on-line newsletter in approximately 2007, today's Digest has grown up in every way.

We have four editions, all of which are distributed on a bi-monthly basis.

Our print edition has a paid subscriber base of around 300, most but not all of whom are those incarcerated in state prisons for sexually based offenses throughout the United States.

Our membership e-edition is published in the form of a preview to the online flipbook; it goes to those who are members, donors, and supporters of our website, approximately 1000 individuals.

The full online flipbook is available to everyone through the Digest archives; it is posted a week to two weeks after the print edition has been released.

Finally, through the Federal Corrlinks program, currently almost 600 federal prisoners receive a text-only e-edition. That number continues to grow monthly.

RSOL is proud to offer the Digest as the only regular publication focused at the expansion of the sex offender registry system in the U.S. and those who are entangled in it.
